Notre Dame's top academic scholars are all smiles after flipping their tassels to signify they are now graduates.

There were many smiles to be had on this special day for the graduates and their families.

Many students chose to decorate and personalize their caps for the occasion.

The graduation ceremony was bittersweet for many as there were many smiles and tears as the graduates are going from a familiar place to a new unknown phase in life.

Right: An appropriate message for the ceremony as the graduates look toward the future.

Congratulations Class of 2025!

Graduate Victor Martinez celebrates with some younger family members. In the fall, he will study automotive engineering at Northampton Community College.

The final row of graduates walks toward the stage during Lehigh Valley Academy's commencement June 3 at Stabler Arena.

Quadir Cunningham, Jahri Holman, gym teacher Colin Rex, Victor Martinez, and friend Ziche Ngwa outside Stabler Arena. All three graduates will be together at Northampton Community College in the fall; Quadir Cunningham will study HVAC; Jahre Holman will study business administration; and Victor Martinez will study automotive engineering. "Never underestimate yourself," advises Jahre, and Quadir adds, "Even when you're at your lowest, never give up."

"The Cul de Sac Crew" consists of friends since kindergarten DeAndre Betinck, Bailey Fleckenstein, Charlie Gavlik, Anton Bittner, Adam Van Camp and Simon Hume.

"I'm very proud," says Ebony Lyons's mother about her daughter's graduation. Lyons will study veterinary and biomedical science at Penn State (University Park) next year.

Magna cum laude graduate Amayah Altagracia with her extremely proud family outside Stabler Arena. She will study nursing at Moravian University in the fall.

Matthew Rulli congratulates Simon Hume, who was awarded two scholarships during the ceremony. "I'm extremely grateful for the influence Dr. Jennings had on my life," Hume said of his former principal. "It means a lot to me to carry on his legacy." Hume will study mechanical engineering at Northeastern University, and Rulli will study management information services at Penn State — Lehigh Valley.

"I've been here since kindergarten," says Oliver Clements of her graduation from Lehigh Valley Academy, "so it's been a long time coming." She graduated magna cum laude and will study theater at Temple University in the fall.

"Don't let others dictate what you want to do. Follow your passion," says graduate Gianna Matos. She will study psychology at West Chester University.

Graduate Joshua Mendez with siblings Enyshialis, Jose, Alisha, Zoe and Naomi Mendez after the ceremony. He will study accounting at Northampton Community College in the fall. "I'm so proud of him," says his sister, Enyshialis. "It hasn't always been easy. I hope the best for him."

Dr. Harrison Bailey III expresses gratitude for the Service to Our Country Award presented to him during Liberty's commencement. The former Liberty principal now serves as the Wilson Area School District superintendent.

His family proudly gathers around Liberty grad Daunte Morrison. From left, Rachel (mom), Chastity (sister), Joe Dominguez (grandfather), and his brothers Kareem and Quinten. Morrison has plans to attend Albright University with a major in business and a minor in art.

“Because of the great faculty here, I’m pursuing my education at Bloomsburg University, majoring in secondary education,” says class speaker Gamaliel Carrasquilla. “Hoping to come back to Liberty HS and experiencing it from the other side. The easy side,” he quipped.

“What is success?” asks faculty speaker Paula Figueiredo Monteiro. “It is your turn to choose and define what success means to you.”
